

The Pledge of OCMA

The Board of Trustees of the Orange County Museum of Art, hereby pledge to the residents of Newport Beach that we are committed to the redevelopment of the museum's current site in a responsible and sensitive manner. This includes selecting a company dedicated to preserving the community's quality of life, protecting views, and employing the highest and most appropriate design and architectural standards.

Our stewardship of the redevelopment process has been one of the most important fulfillments of our mission since the Museum's formation, and it allows us to expand our goal of enriching the lives of a diverse and changing community through modern and contemporary art.
